The New SRH Campus Berlin

Your New Campus 2024!

Built from the ground up, our new campus in Berlin was designed with one mission in mind:

Create a modern, contemporary hub where students are inspired to learn, connect, and turn dreams into a future.

Construction began on August 17, 2021 on the scenic riverside site next to the Ringbahn station Sonnenallee. Completion is planned for 2024. The complex will then cover an area of around 12,000 square meters and be accessible by all means of transportation.

Our brand-new campus combines contemporary architecture with state-of-the-art facilities for students. Not only is the location perfectly situated in one of Berlin's up-and-coming districts, but it also offers the best possible environment for education and development. Modern equipment and functional rooms ensure CORE-aligned learning amidst an inspiring atmosphere – from photo, film, and music studios to the library and cafeteria, and on to the IT and technical labs.

Such a stylish environment requires a sustainable power supply. With sustainability as one of our guiding principles at SRH, we planned and built our new grounds with forward-looking energy efficiency: from natural air conditioning and cutting-edge heat distribution to an integrated solar roof. And, of course, for all urban cyclists out there, there will be plenty of bicycle racks!

Innovative and Future-Oriented

Prof. Dr. Victoria Büsch
President SRH Berlin

"Being a higher education provider in today's world means continuously striving to improve our teaching and learning methods whilst creating agile, state-of-the-art study spaces. It is of the essence that our students learn in a competence-oriented manner and are empowered to have a successful career."

Our Study Concept: The CORE Principle

We created a unique approach to education, designed in-house to best fit our students' individual needs and strengths.

The introduction of our innovative teaching and learning model, the CORE principle (Competence Oriented Research and Education), represents our response to new educational and market challenges.

CORE places the highest priority on the development of our students' competencies. In designing our degree programmes we start with the desired outcome and work backwards from there.

Our coordinated programmes facilitate the best possible employability in a global market.

We are committed to this approach in all our services – in classroom-based, distance-learning, part-time and certified programmes.

An agile, motivating and innovative culture of learning is both condition and result. We work closely with our industry partners and our students and by doing so create the best possible learning environment.

5-week blocks of teaching for maximum focus on the subject

Study programmes are organised in five-week blocks of applied study. Working in a small group, you get to focus intensively on real-world challenges.

Diverse exam forms: No crammed exam weeks

Ongoing performance evaluations at the end of each five-week block ensure a continuous feedback loop and avoid end-of-year exam stress. We use various examination methods to test different facets of skill and competence building.

Your teacher is your coach, throughout your studies

While focusing on your work you receive active guidance from your mentors and benefit from a range of options to help you achieve your personal goals.

Interactive learning and teaching methods

Different study formats include a variety of group work, seminars, role-play and applied assignments. Simultaneously, CORE provides you with the space and equipment that best support you. A dynamic, agile environment that makes learning not only extremely efficient but fun as well.

What our students say.

Judith de Haas
M.A. International Management

Why did you choose to study at SRH Berlin?

"I decided to study International Management after I have already walked on a very varied life path. As a musician, yoga teacher and initiator with a huge hunger for academic challenges, I wanted to commit to a programme which could help me to develop the skills to take a more responsible role in the cultural field."

What did you like about your studies?

"The International Management programme gave me the basics to hold onto when organising performing arts projects. At first, I didn't know where to start, and my studies helped me not to see too many obstructions but to just go for it, step by step."

How did you experience the international approach of SRH?

"Actually, just being in my class was a very international experience. Every single day. I think we had about 15-20 different nationalities in our year group. It was fantastic to work with so many different people and cultural values on study subjects but also to spend time together out of school. I have always been internationally-oriented and hearing and experiencing other approaches to business issues is an important aspect of future international working environments. Moreover, I just love connecting to people, from anywhere, to share experiences on a super open level. With its international representation, SRH makes it possible to be part of this."

What was your favourite learning or working experience at SRH?

"My favourite working experience was while learning! I'm very eager to learn and work together with the organisers of events that I performed in myself. This gives me the inspiration to walk my own path."

Scholarships & Financing Options for SRH Students

Unlock Your Potential: Making University Education Accessible for All

A university education is a commitment to your future and your career. This dedication will bear fruit swiftly, as individuals with an academic degree will consistently benefit from a greater earning potential in the future, regardless of skills shortages and other variables.

Of course, we recognise that not everyone can manage the tuition fees at a private university on their own. That's why a significant number of our students take advantage of one or more of the support options detailed below.

SRH Scholarship Programme: Supporting Your Academic Journey

At SRH, we aim to guide applicants towards a programme that aligns with both personal and professional aspirations. We hold a strong commitment to enhancing diversity and creating opportunities for motivated young individuals eager to excel in their sectors. For those outstanding international students considering Germany for their academic journey, we extend an invitation to our scholarship programme.

Following your admission interview with a study advisor, if you're identified as a potential candidate for our scholarship programme, you'll receive an invitation to apply. Successful applicants could have up to 50% of their first-year tuition fees covered.

To qualify for consideration, candidates must satisfy the criteria outlined below:

- Proof of admission to SRH
- Display of remarkable motivation
- Solid academic performance (where relevant)
- Submission of an artistic portfolio (where relevant), project outline or samples showcasing social and entrepreneurial initiatives.

DAAD Scholarships: Nurturing Global Minds

Every year, the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) supports well over 100,000 students and researchers worldwide.

DAAD scholarships are primarily geared towards graduates offering them opportunities for study and research visits to German universities and non-academic research institutions. Select programmes also encompass funding for internships. Comprehensive details on the array of scholarships are available in the DAAD scholarship database www.daad.de/en/study-and-research-in-germany/scholarships

SBW Scholarships: Bridging University Learning with Global Volunteer Impact

Through the SBW Scholarship programme, outstanding young talents from diverse parts of the world are recognised and celebrated for their remarkable dedication to volunteer work in their home countries.

A full scholarship includes the funding of tuition fee, accommodation in the SBW in-house student apartments, and a monthly allowance for living expenses. SBW Berlin scholarship holders will embark on unique social non-profit initiatives, ideally linked with NGOs from their home countries to enhance living standards there. Post-study, recipients are expected to return home, applying their Berlin-acquired skills to their projects, with SBW Berlin offering guidance and mentorship.

A pivotal SBW Berlin scholarship stipulation is therefore the recipient's commitment to work in their home country for at least 18 months post-graduation.

Currently, the scholarship targets students from Eastern Europe, South America, Asia, and Africa.

German Private Foundations

Numerous private foundations offer scholarships to international students in Germany, often in honour of esteemed German figures to foster intercultural ties. Known in German as 'Begabtenförderungswerke', these foundations champion promising young individuals exhibiting commitment across societal, political, and cultural domains. Each foundation has distinct affiliations, from philosophical to business-oriented, and seeks candidates resonating with their core values.

You will find below 3 of the main ones. Please make sure to check the deadlines as early as possible.

Pioneering Equal Access for Tomorrow's Leaders through Solidarity

The SRH Education Fund, in partnership with Brain Capital, promotes equitable access to education, regardless of your present financial situation.

This initiative, grounded in the Income Share Agreement (ISA) model, commences repayments only after successful career entry and once a specific annual income threshold is achieved. For a maximum of 10 repayment years you pay back a predefined percentage of your income. Crucially, the contributions from those earning above this threshold directly finance the education of incoming students.

You will therefore embrace a solution that is built on the principle of "solidarity community", where established graduates back the next wave of learners, thus embedding solidarity at the core of our financial framework.

Brain Capital Up to 100% financing available

EU nationality: Yes, or hold a permanent, unrestricted work and resident permit for an EU country. Switzerland & UK nationals can apply as well.

Partner university admission: Yes

Good school performance: Min. 2.0 GPA (German, as calculated by Brain Capital)

German language: Recommended (not mandatory)

Threshold (gross): 25,000 €

Maximum repayment period: 20 years

Duration of repayment: Maximum 10 years

Web: study-at-srh.de/study-in-germany/eu-funding

Study Now – Pay Later

- The SRH Education Fund with Brain Capital will pay up to 100% of your tuition at SRH Universities
- You can completely focus on your education.
- The repayment period begins after your graduation.

Tax Deductions

Payments made to the education fund essentially represent deferred tuition fees. Under the current German legal framework, these outgoings qualify for tax deductions upon payment.

Unlock Work Opportunities

Part-time Jobs for Students

A student job offers a dual benefit: it can bolster your finances during your studies and provide invaluable work experience.

For non-EU/EEA students, the German Residence Act permits 120 full days or 240 half-days of work annually, with freelancing off the table. Meanwhile, EU/EEA students enjoy unrestricted access to the German labour market.

During term time, you can take on roles for up to 20 hours a week, which can be extended to 40 hours during semester breaks. Proficiency in German significantly eases the job hunt, which is why at SRH we offer free German courses for all international students.

While student part-time positions often align with the German minimum wage, set at €12 per hour since 1st October 2022, your potential earnings can vary based on your expertise, the sector you're employed in, and regional market conditions.

Taxes Explained

Holding a part-time allows students to earn up to €520 monthly without incurring tax. If your regular income surpasses this limit, you'll require a tax number and a portion of your salary will be deducted each month. However, by filing a tax return at the year's end, students can get this money back.
